From the Northern State Parkway – instructions similar to those above, except that you should take Exit 35.

Our Speaker and His Topic

Since 2007 Jamie Swan has worked as a machinist at Webb Institute (naval architecture and marine engineering) in Glen Cove. He is the founder of the Long Island Metal Workers Society (LIMWS) and he makes bicycle frames as a side business. He has an associates degree in mechanical engineering technology (SUNY Farmingdale, 1977) and worked briefly as a tool and die designer. He has dabbled in buying and selling industrial equipment. That work evolved into promoting machinery auctions for several years. His primary focus over the years has been in the bicycle industry; fourteen years as a commercial wheel builder and 17 years as a retail shop owner (Centerport Cycles). He has dabbled in making frames for road and track bicycles since 1981 and started making them commercially in 2005. His production is typically in the order of one or two frames per year. Emphasis is placed on carefully fitting the rider, precision in manufacturing tolerances and aesthetic detailing.
